And Now the Medical Center Wants All Of

It All of the Time

Quote: Editor Louis Graves of Nashville News says: Friend of ours approves President Eisenhower's strong foreign policy stand as well as his conservative domestic program. "Like the fellow with a full jug of whiskey and a rattlesnake just rattling away beside it — he said, 'Go ahead and strike, d--- you, I'll never be better prepared!'"

Your editor acknowledges receipt from the Arkansas Federation of Women's Clubs and the Arkansas State Nurses association of a copy of their joint letter to the members of the legislature in behalf of the state Medical Center project at Little Rock.

I disagree with their letter as strongly as a gentleman may, for reasons I shall give further along in this piece. However, here is the gist of their appeal to the state senators and representatives:

"Our two organizations realize the urgency of the program to complete and operate the Medical Center of which the School of Nursing is an integral part. The shortage of nurses in our state is serious, and we can only develop leadership by keeping our nurses in Arkansas. Experience has proved that once they leave Arkansas to complete professional training which equips them to become supervisors, administrators and instructors, they do not return. Arkansas does not have a nurse training school on a college level."

(The letter then points out that the 1949 legislature appropriated $6,200,000 to establish the Medical Center, and the 1951 legislature raised the cigarette tax from 4 to 6 cents a pack, the extra 2 cents going for construction. Now, the letter argues, the extra 2 cents should be made "a continuing tax" for "operation and maintenance.")

I reported in this column last December that a similar but less drastic proposal was offered to and rejected by the Joint Tax Revision Committee during its sessions in November. The subcommittee on Sales and Cigarette Taxes which I headed was approached on the proposition that we should endorse tying up the 2-cent cigarette tax for the Medical Center at least through 1954. This was for construction purposes only, and it was argued with obvious merit that it would have to be done by the legislature regardless of what we thought about it because the state already had let construction contracts in anticipation of the funds.

Nevertheless I wasn't going to put my name on a report endorsing that endless diversion for which I have editorially criticized the legislature for years. The committee simply dropped the matter. Now we have today's letter asking the legislature to make this temporary tax for construction purposes a permanent tax for operation and maintenance.

What's at stake is 2 1/2 million dollars a year. It's a one-third bite of the tax on tobacco — always regarded heretofore as reserved mainly for the public schools.

The Medical Center did not actually take 2 1/2 million dollars a year away from the schools' existing revenue — but it did take that much out of the same claim which the schools had grub-staked, and there isn't much difference. Diversion is the same whether you raid the other fellow's bank account or the mine where he got the gold in the first place.

Perhaps the public schools could spare that 2 1/2 millions potential tax revenue for the few years required to build the Medical Center, but now you see the result — a diversion for a temporary emergency threatens to become a permanent maintenance fund for somebody else — not the school kids.

If I were handling the school lobby up there in Little Rock I think I would ask the Medical Center advocates a searching question: Where were you expecting to get your operating revenue when you told us you only needed the 2-cent cigarette tax long enough to get the buildings up?

If I were the teachers' spokesman I'd tell it to the legislators when they get home this week-end.

If this latest raid by the Medical Center's tom-tom beaters comes off, you can cancel out all of the cigarette tax, sooner or later, as far as the schools are concerned. The fact that the schools didn't get the 2 1/2 millions by which the cigarette tax was increased automatically means that their 4 1/2 millions balance will be a shrinking share.

You've been had, my friends... you've been had.

'Cold War' Works for U. S., Finns Promise No More Oil to China; Full Blockade Asked

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower already has opened his promised campaign of psychological warfare against the Communists.

The first move has been to keep the Reds guessing about the precise mission of the U. S. Seventh Fleet in Far Eastern waters.

And in the future, it was learned today on good authority, the President can be expected to try to develop psychological warfare into a major part of the hot and cold wars against the Communists.

"We're not going to telegraph all our punches to the enemy," one source asking anonymously said.

"The Reds have held the initiative for years in psychological warfare—and we intend to take it from them."

Eisenhower told Congress in his State of the Union message Monday that he was issuing instructions which would remove the Seventh Fleet as a "shield" for the Communists of Red China. One effect of such a move would be to clear the way for Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist troops to reform the China mainland from Formosa.

But even though Eisenhower said "I am issuing instructions" to the fleet, not one official word has said as to whether the orders already have been issued or just what the fleet may have been directed to do.

Questioning at several sources uncovered hints that the secrecy around the fleet orders in all probability will be duplicated in other future moves as far as possible.

It is said congressional leaders will be consulted on major actions and that Eisenhower won't strike out on a course while keeping Congress in the dark about what is going on. He will do this even at the risk of "leaks" which would unmask the moves.

Stock Farmers Scraping Feed Barrel Bottom Can Help the Situation in Various Ways

Some livestock farmers in Hempstead County are scraping the bottom of the feed barrel. Others will soon have to buy feed. Some are already buying. To cut down the feed bill and cut off the outgo of cash for feed as soon as possible is an immediate problem.

To meet this situation, County Agent Oliver L. Adams suggests well fertilized spring seed oats overseeded with lespedeza, or oats seeded alone, as the best possibilities. But this program will not take the pace of a well planned year-round pasture forage program. It is intended only to meet an emergency situation.

Varieties and Seeding

Although spring oats do not yield as well or make as much pasture as fall seeded oats, the present situation justifies spring oat seeding. Agent Adams said the spring oat varieties recommended are:

Group Favors Installment Buying Control

LITTLE ROCK, (AP) — A House committee today recommended passage of a Senate bill for supervision of installment buying.

The recommendation was voted following last night's public hearing which once or twice threatened to become explosive before the Judiciary Committee.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, would authorize appointment of a 5-member commission, including the state bank commissioner, empowered to specify what additions could be made to a cash price to arrive at a time purchase price — the "time price differential."

Opponents of the bill — and some not opposing — said its purpose is Continued on Page Two

Pay As You Go Budget Plan Is Ike's Aim

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Eisenhower administration was described as aiming today at a pay-as-you-go spending budget, with sharp cutbacks in prospect for funds voted by Congress in past years.

Congress members who have talked with Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge said they gained the impression that an unofficial ceiling of $68,700,000,000 — the amount of expected revenues — would be placed on Treasury spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

This would represent a cut of nearly 10 billion dollars under the outgo estimated by former President Truman in his budget message. It would halve the budget if there were no cuts in taxes.

In this connection, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, Dodge and some others were reported to have discussed the possibility of continuing for a time at least the excess profits tax on business which raises about 2 1/2 billion dollars yearly. This tax will expire June 30 unless renewed.

Without mentioning the excess profits levy specifically, President Eisenhower said in his State of the Union message on Monday that tax cuts should await budget balancing efforts. House Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts reiterated last night his opposition to any immediate tax reduction.

Dulles Studies Disaster Area in Europe

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — John Foster Dulles arrived in Holland today for a first-hand survey of damage wrought by the nation's flood disaster and its impact on European defense planning.

President Eisenhower's big four-motored plane brought the U. S. Secretary of State and American Foreign Aid Chief Harold Stassen safely to earth at Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport after an hour's flight, part of it through fog, from the West German capital at Bonn.

Their departure from Bonn had been delayed an hour and 18 minutes by ice on the plane's wings and they took off in fog, giving rise to a report that the plane had developed icing "difficulties."

On his arrival, Dulles was quick to assure the stricken Dutch of American aid for their recovery from the week's flood disaster, Western Europe's worst since the Middle Ages.

Russia Has Jitters, Jails Alleged Spies

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda reported today that state security police have arrested three men and a woman, all Soviet citizens, on charges of spying and alleged that the U. S. intelligence service had especially trained one of the men for espionage.

The Communist party paper identified the four as:

— T. A. Sas, "an agent schooled for spying by Americans in Germany."

— S. D. Gurevich, a "veteran Trotskyite."

— E. A. Taratuta, a woman formerly employed by the Soviet Union's Academy of Sciences.

Cub Scouts to Organize Dens at Meet Tonight

Last night at Garland School, 52 parents of Cub-age boys saw a film on the Cub Scout "Achievement Plan."

They also took part in several fun activities. Cub Scout handicraft items were displayed by the Cub Scouts belonging to Dens led by Mrs. James McLarty and Mrs. Orville Oglesby.

Tonight at 7:30 the group will meet again at the school for a session on the Cub Scout "Pack Meeting." A film will be shown on this subject also. After the term session the group will split into three informal sessions and complete the Pack organization. All mothers and fathers are welcome to attend and by so doing will assure their boy an opportunity to become a Cub Scout.

Attending last night's meeting is not a prerequisite to attending tonight's session. Boys attending must be accompanied by one or both of his parents.

House Exempts Farmers From State Gas Tax

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK, (AP) — A bill which some dissenting representatives thought would exempt farmers from state tax on gasoline used exclusively for agricultural purposes, passed the House yesterday.

Rep. Eugene Hampton of Lee County, who introduced the bill, said it wouldn't do that all — it would just save the farmers some "red tape" in getting the lower agricultural tax rate to which they're now entitled.

Now the farmer can get back 4 1/2 cents of the 6 1/2 cent per gallon gasoline tax on all the fuel used in tractors and other farm equipment. He has to file certain forms to obtain the refund.

The House amended a pending bill to lighten drivers' license requirements by elimination of a provision that State Police could revoke a license. Rep. Dan White of Sebastian, who sponsored the amendment, said only courts should have the power of revocation.

The House authorized — and Speaker Carroll Hollenhorst appointed — a 5-member committee to investigate "persistent rumors of gross mismanagement" in operation of the cafeteria of Arkansas State Teachers College at Conway. Bills passed included one to license and regulate real estate brokers.

The Senate yesterday completed legislative action on a bill to create a State Forestry and Parks Commission, financed by increased taxes on the cutting of timber.

The Forestry and Parks Division of the Resources and Development Commission would be abolished. Passed 32-0 without debate in the Senate, the measure now goes Continued on Page Two

Lucille Ball, Bishop Share in TV Awards

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — A Catholic churchman, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, and red-haired comedienne Lucille Ball today held the top honors of the Television Academy.

Bishop Sheen, whose religious talks have competed for listeners with Milton Berle and Red Skelton, last night won the Academy's Emmy award as the most outstanding personality on TV in 1952.

He was chosen over such professional entertainers as Arthur Godfrey and Donald Connor and one non-pro, Adlai Stevenson.

It was a radiant evening for Miss Ball. Only three weeks ago she became the most famous mother of the year by giving birth to Desi Arnaz IV, coinciding with the birth of a son on her TV show. Last night the Academy's 400 members voted her the top comedienne.

More Chamber of Commerce Committees

Selection of personnel to serve on additional committees in the agricultural field are announced today by President Ben Owen of the Chamber of Commerce. Newly Born Baby Owes About $1,766

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The public debt, it sometimes seems, is like the weather — everybody talks about it but nobody does anything about it.

It is, to be sure, a big thing to tackle. It's more than 205 billion dollars now. Before many months, as President Eisenhower cautioned in Monday's State of the Union message, it may push through the present legal limit of 275 billion dollars.

That means you, your wife or husband and even a baby born this morning each own, on the average, about $1,766. And the interest keeps piling up all the time.

This Epidemic May Hit Some Men Twice a Year But the Wife Has It All the Time

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A powerful epidemic is reaching across America now, affecting millions of households.

The malady usually picks as its welcome victim the man-of-the-house.

It is spread by men's clothing stores and carried into the home by newspapers. It is called "the semi-annual clearance sale fever."

Symptoms: An itching in the wallet, accompanied by a delicious male urge to buy... buy... buy.

Treatment: The wise wife will let her little man enjoy the fever until it runs its course, and his wardrobe is re-stocked. It is the only known cure.

Since women do most of the buying today, special sales are held for them all over the calendar. But men get to exercise their hunting instincts only twice a year, during the semi-annual clearance sale.

Controls were taken off prices for all meat products, furniture, clothing, restaurant meals and "thousands of items normally sold in department stores."

The overseeding of lespedeza on spring oats in this program offers an excellent chance for summer and fall lespedeza hay or pasture.

Overseeded lespedeza at the normal rate — Kober, 25 to 30 pounds per acre; Kober, 20 to 25 pounds per acre. Seed the lespedeza around the first of March.

Crazing and Management. To justify the program proper management is essential. Do not begin grazing until the oats begin to cover the ground and have established a root system strong enough to keep animals from pulling the plants up by the roots.

Once the oats are established they should be grazed heavily enough to keep them at a height of 2 to 3 inches. If the oats are not kept down, they may smother out your lespedeza stand. In this program it is recommended that the oats be pastured out completely.

By doing this you should be able to pasture up to June 1-15, or later. By then the lespedeza may furnish some pasture; or Sudan grass summer supplemental pasture may be used until the lespedeza is ready.

Oats when grazed out made, at the Batesville Experiment Station, beef gains equivalent in value to over 40 bushels of oats per acre.

Should lespedeza not be available when grazed out, the land may be seeded to Sudan grass for summer pasture, but the combination of oats and lespedeza offers the best chance of providing less costly pasture.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The House today passed a Senate bill designed to push up the reporting of election returns.

Introduced in the Senate by Sen. Jack Clark of Texas, the bill would cut from three days to one the time permitted for returning election returns to the county clerk.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Senate today passed and Gov. Cherry immediately signed into law a House bill to create a new chancery district, the 15th, composed of Saline, Grant and Hot Spring Counties.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The House today rejected two efforts to amend a Senate bill which would permit private construction of a toll bridge over the Arkansas River here.

The bill which has passed the Senate would authorize the State Highway Commission to grant permits for construction, operation and maintenance of toll bridges.

Sen. Ellis Egan of Little Rock, one of the authors of the bill, who explained its provisions to the House, said that it was designed especially to permit construction of a third bridge here, but could be applied to other sections of the state.

The promise of a full fledged filibuster dissipated in the upper chamber. After only 15 minutes of speaking yesterday, Sen. Jack Clark of Texas won a delay in final action on a bill to set up a state burial association board and limit to $500 the value of burial policies.

Clark had threatened to filibuster if necessary to gain time to complete his constitutional amendment.

The paper called again for intense vigilance against Soviet enemies. It backed its spy charges with this account of what had taken place:

After the war, the Americans enlisted him in their service and "after having completed a special school he was sent back by American intelligence into the USSR as a spy."

The executive order provides that wage adjustments pending before the wage stabilization committee may be put into effect immediately.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, provided for continued authority to enforce penalties for past violations of wage controls.

The President's action was described by the White House as the first in a series of steps to decontrol all prices. A more detailed report on price decontrol was scheduled to come from the Office of Price Stabilization later today.

Stabilization officials worked late into the night preparing the necessary orders to decontrol both wages and a batch of consumer prices.

CHICAGO, (AP) — Removal of government controls on beef appeared imminent today, but a survey indicated prices generally are below pre-Korean War levels in most parts of the country.

The spot survey was designed to show prices this week as compared with a year ago and the week prior to the outbreak of the war in Korea on June 25, 1950.

Slaughtering centers and strictly consuming areas, big and small cities, in coastal, border, plains and mountain regions were included in the 15-city survey.

The cities were Seattle, Los Angeles, Denver, Dallas, Bismarck, N. D., Kansas City, New Orleans, Memphis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, 89, and Washington.

Miss Neva Joyce McClellan
Weds James T. Rowland

On Sunday afternoon, February 1, at 3 o'clock in the First Baptist Church, Hope, Miss Neva Joyce McClellan became the bride of James Truman Rowland, son of Mrs. Charles Rowland, Sr., and the late Mr. Rowland of Fulton. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. O. McClellan and the late Mr. McClellan of Patmos.

The Reverend S. A. Whitlow performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with pink double stock, jade and emerald leaves, and lighted tapers. Dr. J. W. Branch, organist, provided a program of nuptial music consisting of "Oh, Promise Me," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "Lieberstraum," and accompanied by Mrs. James McLarty who sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. McLarty wore a teal blue dress with a corsage of pink spilt carnations.

Lowell Robertson and Otis Blackwood lighted the candles. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Paul McClellan, wore a ballerina length dress of white net over satin designed with a bouffant skirt. The yoke of the dress was appliqued with flowers of chintilly lace. Her finger veil fell from a lace cap embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. Rene Bressinck was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Anne Wilson and Miss Mary Adele Waddle were bridesmaids. They wore identical ballerina length dresses of remembrance blue net over satin fashioned on similar lines to that of the bride. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and candytufts with matching bandanas in their hair.

Edward Cox of Fulton served his cousin as best man. Ushers were H. C. McClellan, D. C. Daniels, Lowell Robertson and Otis Blackwood. Mr. McClellan and Mr. Daniels also served as groomsmen. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McClellan chose a light blue silk dress with toast accessories. Her corsage was of pink gardenias.

Mrs. Rowland wore a navy silk dress trimmed with pale blue with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony, the couple received their friends in the vestibule of the church. Mrs. H. C. McClellan presided at the bride's book.

For travel, Mrs. Rowland wore a winter white suit with navy and white accessories. She pinned an orchid at her shoulder. Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will be at home in Fulton.

Gentleman Sought

Dear Miss Dix: Where are all the gentlemen in the world? I am 40 years of age, good looking, don't smoke or drink, go to church, and am looking for a man who doesn't drink, is good, kind, honest and decent. Is that too much to want? If not, then where can I find such a one? The men I do meet are more interested in what I have to offer in the way of petting, or how I stack up as a drinking companion or how much money I can contribute toward an evening's entertainment, than they are in my company as a lady.

Her Beau Ideal
Answer: Laments constantly reach my desk from men who bemoan the fact that they can't find an old fashioned girl, or from females who are convinced gentlemen are extinct! Both notions are, of course, completely false, but in order to establish the possible fruitfulness of a search, one must be firmly convinced that a lady or a gentleman is really the object of the search.

Too often, what a man wants is a glamor girl with house wifely qualities, or a lady seeks a dashing man-about-town who can turn effervescence into domesticity at just the proper moment. A man who would answer your description, Bella, could quite possibly be a bit of a bore, too. And you probably wouldn't consent to be bored even for the privilege of having a man who is honest, kind and good and decent. Be honest, would you? Your gentlemanly possessor of the above mentioned qualities could also be a hard worker, a good provider, a considerate husband in financial matters, but alas he also could prefer an evening at home with television to one at a night club. Could you honestly say that a solid diet of evenings at home would satisfy you? It might if you are sincere in your desire for a gentleman. It wouldn't if you are more interested in gaily. I certainly don't intend to convey that all gentlemen are stodgy, but it is more than likely that most of them who reach forth and remain unattached are inclined that way. Gentle, but gay, young men of 25 are plentiful, but they're snuffed up mightily fast, those who are bachelors at 40 either lack the jolt de vivre that would have attracted younger women, or they're thoroughly set in their bachelorhood.

The best way for an unattached lady to meet a gentleman stably situated is through mutual friends. Your married friends should be a big help in this respect. Most men meet, through business or through masculine social activities, eligible men whom they could easily invite home for dinner. Naturally a single lady would be needed to even the table settings, so if your married lady friends are aware of the fact that you're available for such occasions you should at least have frequent opportunities for meeting gentlemen.

Always bear in mind, however, that by the 40's statistics are against your meeting any nice, unattached man. Women outnumber men at any age, but by the time middle age approaches, the statistical gap widens — against women. Don't relax your set standards, but don't expect them all to be embodied in a knight in shining armor.

Dear Miss Dix: Do you think I would be doing wrong if I went to work again? My husband was killed in battle nine years ago, and I have taken care of my child and self ever since. I can't move without my daughter close to me, the only time she's not with me is when she's at school. Her teachers say it would be better for both of us if I went to work and had some thing to do during the day. Do you think that's right?

Answer: If your daughter can be cared for in the interim between school and your home coming, certainly think you would both benefit from your going back to work. The child is probably nine or ten now, at which age she should be developing a social life of her own, through Scouting, Camp Fire Girls or some such activity. Renewed interest in the outside world will be good for you, too. By all means try a job, at least long enough to see how it will affect you both.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been going with a lady for quite a while, and we have seen each other often until about a month ago. Since then she has cut out on our dates pleading business whenever I ask her to go out. I realize she is working hard, since she has her own shop, but wonder if this is just a gentle "brush off."

Answer: I think you have reached a quite accurate conclusion, George. All things point to the lady's lack of interest in your courtship. Stay away for a while, at least, and see if she misses you. Released by Bell Syndicate Inc.

Longshoremen Defy Picket Line Order

NEW YORK (UP)—Violence threatened in the five-day old tugboat strike today as a group of rebel longshoremen vowed to defy an order by their president, controversial Joseph P. Ryan, to respect the tugmen's picket lines.

The wide open revolt against the president of the AFL International Longshoremen Association came from workers on Greenwich and Chelsea docks in lower Manhattan. The order was the first that Ryan had issued since he appeared last week before the state crime commission to tell what he knew of racketeering on the crime ridden waterfront.

John Dwyer, hiring boss on Pier 46, and a leader of the insurgent longshoremen, issued the revolt call last night on the eve of the day Ryan's order was to go into effect.

"All my men are going to work," he said. "We will not respect picket lines."
